The International Union of Painters and Allied Trades does more than just build the places in which we live and work; we're building better communities by giving our children the support and opportunities they need to thrive in life.

"The members of the IUPAT are proud to give back to our communities through the PATCH Foundation. Making a positive difference in children's lives is the ultimate reward for being a good neighbor in our communities."

James A. Williams Jr.
IUPAT General President
Chairman of the PATCH Foundation

Building a Better Life for Children in Need

The Painters and Allied Trades for Children's Hope Foundation, or PATCH, was founded in 2001 to better the lives of children in need throughout North America.

Supported by the men and women of the International Union of Painters and Allied Trades and other generous donors, the PATCH Foundation has given nearly $1 million to youth organizations throughout the United States and Canada. And, the money raised locally by our IUPAT members goes back to their own communities.

The Foundation's mission is to support medical centers, shelters, schools and learning programs and youth sports leagues to ensure that those in need have an opportunity to live a life of play and comfort that every child deserves.
